EXPORTERS will tell you that it is extremely difficult to place abroad a commodity which is not in current use in the country of origin. Paris exports haist coulture because the Parisian women are renowned for their chic. On the other hand, service is a commodity the Israel public either does not appreciate or has been accustomed to go without to meetings if the atmosphere at the time offered hope of beneficial results from such talks.

tional authorities has brought several invitations for further displays in various parts of the world, the Ministry of Education reports.

Israel was among three foreign exhibitors invited, along with Brazil and Pakistan.

The exhibition was mainly a commercial one of educational perquisites. Israel's modest contribution represented her educational schlevements and the absorption of immigrants.

New Contract

HAIFA. — The public's indifference to the lot of the Israel seaman was one of the main causes leading to the desertion of many seamen abroad, the Secretary of the Israel Seamen's Union, Captain W. Daliman, claimed at the Union's National Council meeting here on Wednesday night. He added that this attitude also led many seamen to leave the sea for abore jobs here.

The Council met for two days to consider the pending negotiations for a new labour contract and the Union's relations with the shipping companies.

Dr. N. Wydra, director of the Eim company, urged the seamen to increase their efforts to achieve greater efficiency aboard ship.

Our political correspondent writes:

A further link in the close political and economic relations between Israel and Argentina is being forged by the visit to Israel of Prof. Monjardin.

A close friend of President Frondizi, he arrived here on Tuesday as guest of the Knesset Speaker, Mr. Nahum Nir. As one of the leaders of the U.C.R.L.—(Union Civica Radical—Intransigente) Prof. Monjardin was elected President of the House when his party's parliamentary position was strengthened in the elections of February, 1868.

Together with President Frondizi and Mr. Balbin, a U.C.R.L leader, Prof. Monjardin was elected President of the House when his party's parliamentary position was strengthened in the elections of February, 1868.

Together with President Frondizi and Mr. Balbin, a U.C.R.L leader, Prof. Monjardin was elected president of the House when his party's parliamentary position was strengthened in the elections of February, 1868.

Together Prof. Monjardin is also a close friend of Israel and on many occasions has expressed his admiration for this country. Israel-Argentine economie and political ties are expected by the Knesset Speaker and by Mrs. Meir. Hc will be the luncheon guest of Mr. Niz. Members of the Knesset delegation to Argentina will also be present.

Prof. Monjardin beaded an Argentine parliamentary delegation to West Germany, Belgium, France and Italy. He is accompanied by his secretary, Mr. Ernesto Garson.

Invitation For Israel Educational Display The success of Israel's display at an education exhibition in a recent American nation-wide conference of educational authorities has brought several invitations for further displays in various parts of the world, the Ministry of Education reports.

Israel was among three foreign exhibitors invited, along with Brazil and Pakistan.

The exhibition was mainly a commercial one of educational perquisites. Israel's modest contribution represented her educational achievements and the absorption of im-simply an exemption from paying a fee for a licence but not an exemption from obtaining a licence and that the "premises" referred to covered all the premises mentioned in later items of the Schedule, such as cafes, restaurants, hôtels, etc. He asked the Court to conclude, therefore, that a cafe which is licensed under the Sale of Intoxicating Liquor Ordinance is a classified trade and its owner is consequently obliged to hold a tradeal licence, even thesuch the need-not pay a fee for ft.

The respondents' Counsel argued, on the other hand, that if a person carries on two trades on the same premises, one being the sale of intoxicating liquors and the other a classified trade under the Trades & Industries Ordinance, then, by sirtue of Section 4(3), the liquor licence which he holds overen the second business also. Alternatively, he argued, a cafe with a liquor licence is not a classified frade.

Jerusalem Post Reporter
TEL AVIV. — The two-day strike of Israel's microbiologists and chemists employed in medical laboratories ended on Wednesday afternoon, after the union council decided to accept the compromise settlement offered by the Histafrut,

They will now all work seven hours a day, thus improving their chance for overtime pay. Their salary will be equal to 70-80 per cent of that earned by employed physicians. They will all receive an extra IL15-20 a month as a literature allowance.

The Histadrut rejected the seniority claims of the Union, agreeing only to a further IL80 a month for those with top seniority ratings, instead of the IL110 demanded.

The microbiologists' claim for a special "extra effort" allowance was also rejected, but it was agreed that Union members with Grade "Dalet" and higher would be upgraded.

Sinai Belongs to Turkey'

Jerusalem Post Reporter

TEL AVIV. — As Egypt has no legal claim to Sinai, the peninsula should be put under a U.N. trusteeship because its Egyptian administrators have repeatedly broken international law, a noted Canadian lawyer said here on Wednesday. Mr. L. M. Bloomfield, Q.C., a member of the Canadian Bar Association and the International Law Association, expressed this opinion at a guest lecture he gave to students of the third and fourth year of the Tel Aviv University School of Political Science.

Egypt was entrusted with the administration of Sinai by Turkey in 1906 because of British pressure, Mr. Bloomfield said. There has never been any document to prove that Sinal has been annexed to Egypt. Turkey, therefore, has legal grounds to claim the peninsula for herself even today.

The lecturer said there is no legal doubt that Egypt was not entitled to prevent the innocent passage of any ship through the Sues Canai. Under the General Armistice Agreement with Egypt, Israel warships were prevented from entering Egyptian waters closer than three miles offshore. This clause did not apply to Saudi Arabian shores, Mr. Bloomfield said. Nor did it apply any longer in the case of Egypt, if the Armistice Agreement was considered dead.

Miss Schatz was chosen as the most distinguished member of the event garde in Israel painting. Her sculpture in plexigiass "reflects the assthetic values of the architecture of our age," the judges said.

The 1958 Dizengoff Prizes were also distributed. Last year, the annual exhibition of Israel's artists took place later than usual, and the city decided to award the prizes now. The 1958 prizes were given to three exhibitors at the 1958 Summer Exhibition at Beit Hamlin. The Awards Committee of Messra A. Sigard, E. Kolb and R. Reuben chose: the oil painting "Houses in Jaffa" of Ephraim Liftshitz, the flower (in oils) of Mins Zisselman and "Negev Animals," (sculpture in basalt) of Mordechal Pitkin.

Remanded For Murder Threat

Murder Threat
TEL AVIV. — The Tel Aviv
Magistraites Court on Wednesday remanded Yehoshus Bosagii, 27, of Rishon LeZion, for seven days on suspicion of having threatened to kill a six-year-old boy.
He is charged with having made the threat in a letter to the boy's father, Mr. Gavriel Goldmann, who is in Germany in connection with restitution matters.

He is alleged to have demanded that Mr. Goldmann pay him the IL500 he owed him or he would kill the boy.
Mr Goldmann forwarded the letter to his wife in Israel.
After Bozagii appeared at the Goldmann flat and repeated the threat, Mrs. Goldmann summoned police, who arrested Bosagii. (Itim)

of the Argentine Chamber of Deputies, Prof. Federico Fernandez de Monjardia. Our political correspondent writes:

A further link in the close political and economic relations between Israel and Argentina is being forged by the visit to Israel of Frof. Monjardia.

A close friend of President Frondizi, he arrived here on Tuesday as guest of the Knesset Speaker, Mr. Nahum Nir. As one of the leaders of the U.C.R.I. (Union Civica Radical Intransigente) Prof. Monjardin was elected President of the House when his party's partiamentary position was strengthened in the elections of February, 1968.

Together with President Frondizi and Mr. Balbin, a U.C.R.I. leader, Prof. Monjardin essential and was premained loyal to the U.C.R.I. platform despite the many political changes in Argentina.

Prof. Monjardin is also a close friend of Israel and on many occasions has expressed his admiration for this country. Israel-Argentine conomic and political ties are expected to be strengthened as a result of his visit. The Minister of Commerce and In Stream of Commer

Independence Parade

TEL AVIV. — The Independence Day military parade on May 13 will take place along the six-kilometre route originally planned jointly by the Defence Forces and police, it was confirmed by official military and police sources on Wednesday.

The march will start at the Yarkon Bridge in North Tel Aviv and continue along a straight road to Jaffa. Work to set up stands along the route has been going on for the past few days.

Before it was decided to hold the parade along this route, opposition was voiced by individual officers that a bottle-neck may occur at the rather narorw corners of the Petah Tikva road and Mara and Nahmani Streets.

The Chief of Staff. Rav-Aluf Halm Laskov, together with the Inspector-General of Police, Mr. Y. Nahmias, on Wednesday visited the parade headquarters.

marks the twenty-fifth anniversary of THY SONS a movement which has From AFAR contributed enormously to Israeli life. This celebration is a fitting moment to pay tribute to those who made it possible, to Reha Freier, the "only begettor," to the memory of Henrietta Szold, the "mother of Youth Aliya," who cherished and moulded the movement in its most difficult time, to Hans Beyth, her devoted licutenant—and to the innumerable teachers and workers, abroad as well as in Israel, led by the indefatigable Moshe Kol, who have given their needs.

For it is a fact that the work of Youth Aliya, has a few years and moved to the corporation and moved to the innumerable teachers and workers, abroad as well as in Israel, led by the indefatigable Moshe Kol, who have given their best through the years to the children and their needs.

For it is a fact that the work of Youth Aliya has a few years and plenty its the surplus disposal promises the country has under to the last few years ago.

More and more farms are becoming industrialized—run like factories. The day of the rugged, individualistic. American farmer with his wife and children working from sunup to sundown on the family plot is over. He take factories are the corporation and moved to the corporation and proved to the corporation and moved to the corporation and moved to the corporation and proved to the corp abroad.

It is also a moment to take stock. There are those who are inclined to ask whether, in the S t a t e, Youth Aliya still has a part to play. Nowadays, they point out, not more than 30 per cent of Youth Aliya children go on to kibbutz life, though Youth Aliya education in kibbutzim and children's villages is still geared to agriculture and the group life.

The reasons are many—

The reasons are many— ecline in the prestige of the kibbutz, a greater choice of careers, but the most important single factor of change is that now-days children come to Isaael with their families, and not, as in Nazi times, without them, and it is to heir families they return when their training is over, wanv indeed claim that a child should not be separated from his family, nowever poor or ignorant, and that it will disrupt family life if a child is given a Western standard of living and thinking while his parents still cling to their parents still cling to their Oriental background.

The disruption of family life is not, however, a peculiar Youth Aliya phenomenon. It is going on in a greater or less degree all over immigrant Israel today: 75 per cent of the 12 to 14 thousand children cared for ambually by Youth Aliya come from Oriental homes, often desperately poor. Given their lack of opportunity at home, Youth Aliya training in a kibbutz or children's ways to acclimatize and educate immigrant youth, give them fluency in Hebrew and stimulus for personal development, break down differences of origin and class, and start them on the way as well-ading in a kibbutz or child-ren's village is still one of the finest and healthiest ways to acclimatize and educate immigrant youth, give them fluency in Heb-rew and stimulus for per-sonal development, break down differences of origin and class, and start them on the way as well-ad-justed citizens.

and class, and start them on the way as well-adjusted citizens.

In recent years, moreover, Youth Aliya Day Centres opened in the new towns, such as the one inaugurated by Mrs. Roosevelt at Beersheba yesterday, have gone far to bring some of these benefits to hundreds of immigrant boys and girls still living at home. Plans for the future which lay more stress on formal education, schemes to streamline some of the villages in the direction of vocational training, the provision of secondary scholarships, will give a better start to those who do not go on to kibbutz life.

Youth Aliyahas more than reason to feel proud of the work of its hands, and the State of Israel more than reason to feel grateful. As a movement it has saved thousands of children from Nazi terror. And Editor, The days of production at any price should be gone forever, for the allocation of scarce means for such requirements cannot exist side by side with agricultural surpluses. In our drive for economic agricultural production the following two points are relevant:

First, our agricultural advisory service is organized, indeed trained, in such a way that only technical information is dispensed. The attitude is usually one of husbandry, and not the budgetary approach found in the United States and recently introduced to Great Britain. In the UK. members of the national advisory service had to undergo special training for this purpose. Would it drive for economic agricultural production the following two points are relevant:
